Let's go back to music...

The songs gathered here are from our own vinyl LPs as well as from music we've found at other blogs (such as Phoenix Hairpins and more). It is true that home compilations are a matter of personal taste, so we still feel timid about posting even this one. However, we try to make this post from scratch, and it's all we have right now.

Anyway, the talk's about a compilation we assembled back in June 2011 entitled "Strangers, Still" full of music we love; new wave, post punk, gothic rock. You'll also find a rudimentary artwork inspired by impressive paintings of Magritte that fitted with our title. We hope you like it as a whole, have a good listening to this one.
